Wow. . . so it's really a matter of naming rights acquisition in perpetuity for 8.3% of the construction budget. That's their 7.5M fee against 90M. That's a heck of a deal for permanent corporate association for one of HISD's crown jewels. Regardless, even founding faculty members of the school want the deal to go through.

I don't envy the Board their decision. Here's to wisdom and the greater good.

Very best wishes,

We've tried but the Kinder family will not except anything less than the change of name for the 7.5million

Dear Ms. Dávila,

I'm an alumnus of HSPVA's first graduating class in 1974 and a film & television composer in Los Angeles.

May I please encourage HISD's Board of Trustees to accept the Kinder Foundation's support towards completion of HSPVA's new downtown campus. In doing so, I hope the board may reach an accommodation with the benefactors that will NOT result in renaming the school, but for alternate and meaningful recognition. Perhaps naming the primary auditorium in their honor or other appropriate measure that's commensurate with the foundation's offer of support.

In any case, I hope the Board will see fit that HSPVA's new campus receive benefit of the Kinder Foundation's generous support.

Most sincerely,
